The screenshot shows a Gmail interface with a search bar containing 'elsevier'. The email being viewed is from 'Travel Behaviour and Society' (em@editorialmanager.com) dated Tuesday, February 28, 1:34 PM. The subject line is 'I thank you for reviewing for Travel Behaviour and Society'. The email body contains the following text:

Manuscript Number: TBS-D-2022-00594

Assessment of Ammonia, Carbon Dioxide, and Carbon Monoxide from Real-Time Sensing Devices Due to Traffic Congestion

Dear Dr Ilango,

Thank you for reviewing the above referenced manuscript. I greatly appreciate your contribution and time, which not only assisted me in reaching my decision, but also enables the author(s) to disseminate their work at the highest possible quality. Without the dedication of reviewers like you, it would be impossible to manage an efficient peer review process and maintain the high standards necessary for a successful journal.

You will shortly receive a notification from Elsevier's reviewer recognition platform, which provides you with a link to your "My Elsevier Reviews" private profile page, certificates, editor recognition as well as discounts for Elsevier services.

I hope that you will consider Travel Behaviour and Society as a potential journal for your own submissions in the future.

As a token of appreciation, we would like to provide you with a review recognition certificate on Elsevier Reviewer Hub (reviewerhub.elsevier.com). Through the Elsevier Reviewer Hub, you can also keep track of all your reviewing activities for this and other Elsevier journals on Editorial Manager.

If you have not yet activated your 30 day complimentary access to ScienceDirect and Scopus, you can still do so via the [Rewards] section of your profile

The interface also shows a sidebar with 'Compose', 'Inbox' (8,969), 'Starred', 'Snoozed', 'Sent', 'Drafts' (13), and 'More'. A 'Labels' section shows a 'reviews' label. The bottom of the screen shows a Windows taskbar with the date 27-05-2023 and time 21:48.
